

Next Stop CEO?

What is it?

This unique DIN offering is designed to help curious senior leaders decide if the CEO role is for them and how best to prepare for success.

For execs and directors preparing for this leap, this exclusive and bespoke initiative offers rare access to top contributors across sectors. It equips future CEOs with unparalleled insights, peer connections and the advanced skills needed to transition confidently, preparing them to lead with vision, agility and impact in an ever-evolving sector.

If you're wondering if a CEO role is for you, Next Stop CEO can help you fully consider the role and prepare you for what's to come, equipping you with insights, skills and a network to succeed at the next level and in a new operating environment.

What you'll gain

- Insights into the first 100 days as CEO and preparation strategies
- Guidance on developing a leadership vision and working with boards
- Skills to build an adaptable, purpose-driven organisational culture that delivers
- Practical advice on navigating change, personal resilience and decision-making
- Peer and mentor support for deciding if the role is for you and transitioning to top leadership

What's on offer

- Three online learning sessions with CEO speakers and insights from inside and outside the sector
- One in-person event
- A dedicated WhatsApp group for sharing useful resources, continuous discussion and peer support
- An opportunity to take up mentoring from an experienced in-sector colleague who's walked in your shoes

Who it's for

This is for executive directors or senior directors in social housing who are thinking about the transition to CEO. It is ideal for leaders who want to understand the role, enhance their leadership capabilities and/or prepare for a successful step up.
